

Tuition Increase Notice

Attention all students and parents of students:

On Sept 1st 2023, there will be a small tuition increase at Leading Edge Martial Arts. This increase applies to all tuition due on or after Sept 1st 2023 and all tuition currently past due.

Each year, LEMA evaluates the increase in operating expenses and every year or two there is a small tuition increase to offset the increased expenses. We held off on an overdue increase during the pandemic. Last year we had a small increase however due the rate of inflation, our operating expenses have skyrocketed. This year inflation is at a whopping 12% To offset these increases, we are forced to adjust our prices. This increase is not an attempt to make more profit rather to keep this small business in operation. We appreciate your continued support.

An evaluation of the surrounding martial art facilities in the area has shown that even after the Sept 1st increase, our tuition will remain quite a bit lower than the industry standard, despite the fact that we feel we offer a superior service.

If you do have any questions or concerns regarding tuition, please feel free to contact Sensei Rob via email senseirob@leadingedgema.com

Below is a general tuition guide line. If you are unsure what you should be paying, please see a team member for assistance.
